1981 Chateau Margaux

Chateau Margaux is one of the most consistent of the great Bordeaux “Premier Grand Cru” red wines. Wine Doctor, a respected wine journal, in September 2007 stated, “To sum it up succinctly, Chateau Margaux is an estate clearly worthy of its position as a first growth. The wines that bear the distinctively elegant label of Chateau Margaux are without a doubt some of the greatest wines of all Bordeaux, showing finesse, perfume, concentration and longevity. I admire the delicate balance coupled with intensity of aroma that many of the recent vintages seem to demonstrate, even in supposedly lesser vintages. The wines are expensive, but for once such prices may be justified.”

Superb, Super Tuscan

“The 2006 Sassicaia may very well go down as one of the all-time great recent vintages for this Tuscan thoroughbred. The wine is simply glorious, that's all there is to it. Layers of dark fruit meld into smoke, leather, violets, menthol, earthiness and tar as this profound wine opens up in the glass. The creamy, silky finish lasts an eternity, as waves of fruit caress the tannins with breathtaking elegance. Everything is in the right place in this magical Sassicaia. This is one for the ages. Stephen Tanzer describes Joseph Phelps's Cabernet Sauvignon as "good full ruby with aromas of black currant, chocolate, tobacco and mint. It is sweeter and deeper than the 2000 Merlot, with chewier currant and tar flavors and better vinosity and cut. Here the tannins are more thoroughly buffered. 1991 Ridge California Monte Bell

Ridge Vineyards' Monte Bello bottling has been one of California's elite collectibles virtually since Paul Draper came on board as winemaker in 1969. Today, more than ever before, Ridge is strikingly different from the cabernet-based wines of Napa Valley, which routinely carry alcohol levels of 14% or more in decent vintages.

The 1991 Ridge California Monte Bell has a full, youthful red-ruby color and a knockout nose of cassis, maple syrup, game, truffle and spicy oak; sappy and highly complex. It is a world-class Cabernet, certainly among the top dozen made in California during the last 20 years.

Besides an enthusiasm for wine, they also shared a Hollywood background — Carroll as producer, Mark as screenwriter. 1985 Beringer Private Reserve

Beringer’s 1985 Private Reserve is a superb, fully mature (atypical for the vintage), medium to full-bodied Cabernet Sauvignon with an enticing, chocolaty, herb, black currant-scented nose, rich, plump, expansive, sweet, jammy flavors, attractive spice, and a soft, lush finish. It has matured quickly for a 1985, but there is no rush to consume it as it reveals no signs of fatigue. It should hold at its current plateau for 5-10 years.

2006 Beaux Freres Pinot Noir

Since their first vintage in 1991, the Beaux Frères philosophy remains the same; to produce a world-class Pinot Noir from small, well-balanced yields and ripe, healthy fruit that represents the essence of their vineyard. The grapes are harvested when physiologically (rather than analytically) ripe. Their non-manipulative, uncompromising methods guarantee a wine that is the most natural and authentic vineyard expression possible. Previous vintages demonstrate that these methods also allow our Beaux Frères to develop significant perfume, weight, and texture in the bottle.

L'Aventure Six-Pack

The spirit of L'Aventure is most evident in Stephan's "Paso blends," such as Optimus and Estate Cuvée. Both wines are Cabernet Sauvignon /Syrah blends. In these wines, as well as in their Rhône blend Côte à Côte, the blending of premium varietals increases the authenticity, complexity, and balance of the wines. In this adventurous spirit, we find the future of Paso Robles wines...great, balanced red blends.

The 2006 Optimus consists of 50% Cabernet Sauvignon, 45% Syrah, and 5% Petit Verdot. It reveals the exuberance of a northern Rhone, but the structure of a top Bordeaux. Notes of chocolate, coffee, blackberries, and tar are present in both the aromatics and attack, but then the wine closes down, displaying plenty of structure, muscle, and tannin.

Heidi Barrett's Amuse Bouche Vin Perdu

Legendary Napa wine maker Heidi Barrett has been called the “first lady of wine” by Robert Parker. While at Screaming Eagle she received the first perfect 100% score of any California winemaker, from Robert Parker.

Her own label, Amuse Bouche, is one of the highest priced wines made in America. It is sold only by mailing list and sells out every year. When Heidi has excess fruit from her other wines, she blends them, as only she can, to create Vin Perdu. Because the quantity and composition of the “ingredients” vary from year to year, each vintage of Vin Perdu is uniquely crafted “from scratch.”

The wines are fruit-forward and full-bodied as you would expect from a Heidi Barrett wine. They are extremely limited in production and virtually impossible to get.
